BRONX MAN INDICTED FOR POSSESSING CHILD PORNOGRAPHY
Images Included Rape of An Infant

Bronx District Attorney Darcel D. Clark today announced that a Bronx man has been indicted for possessing on his cell phone images of children forced to perform sex acts.

District Attorney Clark said, “The images allegedly possessed by the defendant are absolutely horrifying. Any crime against children will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.”

District Attorney Clark said Eric Levi, 64, was indicted on 11 counts of Possessing an Obscene Sexual Performance of a Child and 11 counts of Possessing a Sexual Performance by a Child. He was arraigned today before Bronx Supreme Court Justice Laurence Busching. His bail was continued at $50,000 cash/$150,000 bond. Levi is due back in court on March 25, 2025.

According to the investigation, on January 8, 2025, New York City Department of Probation personnel visited the defendant at a homeless shelter on Creston Avenue where he was living. The defendant, a disbarred attorney, was on probation for a child pornography conviction. The Probation officers requested to examine his cellphone as part of the defendant’s conditions of probation. The officers allegedly found images showing children performing sex acts, including a video depicting a man raping an infant.

They also found a conversation the defendant allegedly had with an unknown individual through a social media app, in which he requested child sexual abuse material.

The case is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Kaseim Tripp of the Financial Frauds Bureau and Senior Investigative Assistant District Attorney Kevin Griffin of the Special Investigations Bureau, under the supervision of Ronald Sannicandro, Deputy Bureau Chief of the Violent Criminal Enterprise Bureau, and under the overall supervision of Denise Kodjo, Deputy Chief of the Investigations Division and Wanda Perez-Maldonado, Chief of the Investigations Division. District Attorney Clark thanked Trial Preparation Assistant April Glenn of the Investigations Division for her assistance on the case.
