QUEENS MAN INDICTED FOR MURDERING BRONX WOMAN WITH HER CHILDREN NEARBY
Victim Was Stabbed 15 Times

Bronx District Attorney Darcel D. Clark today announced that a Queens man has been indicted for second-degree Murder and additional charges for fatally stabbing a woman in her Highbridge apartment.

District Attorney Clark said “The defendant, who was a friend of the victim, allegedly attacked her during a dispute, stabbing her multiple times with her three young children in the apartment. This was a brutal crime for which the defendant now faces justice.”

District Attorney Clark said Lamont Wilson, 46, of 101st Street, Queens, was indicted on second-degree Murder, first-degree Manslaughter, and fourth-degree Criminal Possession of a Weapon. He was arraigned before Bronx Supreme Court Justice George Villegas. He was remanded and is due back in court on May 13, 2025.

According to the investigation, on December 6, 2024, at approximately 3:30 a.m., Wilson went to an apartment in 1479 Macombs Road where Britney Webb, 38 lived with her three children, and Wilson got into an argument with Webb. She locked herself and her 5-year-old daughter in a bedroom while her other children were asleep in another room. Wilson burst through the door and allegedly stabbed Webb with a knife 15 times. Wilson fled and was arrested in a nearby building.

The case is being prosecuted by Senior Homicide Counsel John Miras under the supervision of Burim Namani, Deputy Chief of the Homicide Bureau, Christine Scaccia, Chief of the Homicide Bureau, and under the overall supervision of James Brennan, Deputy Chief of the Trial Division and Theresa Gottlieb, Chief of the Trial Division.

District Attorney Clark thanked NYPD Detective Patrick Flatley of the Bronx Homicide Squad and Detective Jackson Dorville of the 44th Precinct for their work on the investigation.

An indictment is an accusatory instrument and not proof of a defendant’s guilt.
